Battle at Anzio Still See-Saws

By EDWARD KENNEDY

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Algiers, Feb. 14 (AP)—Fighting of a see-saw character but of lessened intensity has marked the Allied perimeter at Anzio in the past 24 hours, Allied headquarters announced today after weathering a weekend crisis.

Regaining the initiative in part after the blanketing of Allied air support by bad weather had given German armored units an edge, British troops drove forward and recaptured a bottleneck bridge over the railway west of Carroceto (Aprilia), 10 miles north of Anzio, with the support of tanks.

Emphasizing the indeterminate nature of the battle, however, the Germans again occupied the factory half a mile east of Carroceto after days of fierce fighting in which the battered packing houses and silo-like structures of Mussolini's agricultural enterprise changed hands four times.

While the Allied air forces again struck the German ring about the bridgehead and other objectives, American troops paid with blood and sweat for a 200-yard advance in Cassino, 60 miles to the east.

ITALY—Arrows locate areas of heaviest fighting. Allied troops threw back a German tank-supported attack near Carroceto . . . while Yanks advanced in the Cassino area. Nazi radio report said Yanks had started shelling the Benedictine Abbey atop Mt. Cassino.

BULLETIN

LONDON, Feb. 14 (INS)—A Reuters dispatch from Allied headquarters in North Africa reported today the ancient Benedictine Monastery of Monte Cassino has been given another reprieve. American troops penetrated to close to the monastery wall that an expected Allied bombardment of the structure, turned into an artillery and observation post by the Nazis, became impracticable, the dispatch said.

battering down each German stronghold in a house-to-house struggle.

The Germans, too, still held the ancient towers and buildings of the Benedictine monastery atop the hill west of Cassino.

NAZIS BOMB 3D HOSPITAL

Following Saturday's announcement the Pope's summer residence at Castel Gandolfo, just north of the Anzio bridgehead, was saturated with Germans and therefore was subject to bombing, the Allies stated the monastery was being used by the Germans as a part of their fortifications and an observation post and might have to be taken by direct assault.

But there was no report here, contrary to Rome radio declarations, that the abbey had yet been bombarded.

An official announcement said the Germans again bombed an Allied transit hospital near Anzio Saturday night and caused casualties. Previously the Germans had bombed one hospital and shelled another, both plainly marked with the Red Cross insignia.

Another announcement said the British and Americans had taken well over 2000 German prisoners in the beachhead fighting since landing on Jan. 22.

WEATHER STILL HANDICAP

The ground was soft yesterday, making movements of vehicles difficult, and the weather, while colder, became clearer, allowing impatient British and American airmen to resume their regular patrols, dive-bombing and strafing.

American Spitfire pilots reported the German air force had thrown its newest single-engined fighter—an improved Focke-Wulf 190 with an air-cooled motor—into the battle of the Anzo beachhead. Pilots sighted the new type planes at a distance but were unable to close with them.

Nazis Dive Low To Raid London

By E. B. SULLIVAN

LONDON, Feb. 14 (AP)—U. S. Thunderbolt fighter-bombers pounded the German fighter base at Gilze-Rijen in Holland today without loss, after German night raiders had scattered incendiaries over London in an attack touted by Berlin as made by "several hundred planes."

The Nazi planes dived low under a heavy barrage to lay incendiary bombs on parts of London.

The Berlin radio, eagerly seeking to salve the bomb-buffeted German home front, declared London was sowed with large fires in "another concentrated attack" on the center of the capital.

London crowds milling along the blackened walks and streets in the usual after-theater throngs watched the aerial fireworks, mostly well off into the suburban areas, and found the attack in no greater force than last month when the enemy sent some 80 bombers against London and parts of southeast England.

Most of the bombs fell in the coastal area, causing casualties and damage.

The British estimated the total raiding force at 50 to 60 planes, of which only some 15 reached London. Six were shot down, five over England, and one after returning to France.

Thunderbolt fighters escorted the fighter-bombers striking into Holland in the 15th operation of the Strategic Air Force in 18 days. No enemy planes were met.

The daylight raid followed a heavy attack Sunday on the invasion coast of northern France, in continuation of a two months' offensive against Nazi installations there.

2 Red Armies Put Pressure On Latvia Key

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW, Feb. 14 (AP)—Pskov, gateway to Latvia and Lithuania, felt pressure of two Russian armies today—one driving south from the lower end of Lake Peipus, the other southwest down the Leningrad highway and railway.

Pskov is an important railway and highway junction point.

Six trunk railways and four main highways run through Pskov. The nearest Russians are 40 miles away.

Possession of Pskov would give the Russians an extremely advantageous position from which to launch operations to clear the Germans from the Baltic republics.

Estonia can be virtually cut off from Germany by a drive westward from Pskov. It is only 85 miles from Pskov to Valk junction, which controls every highway and railway into Estonia and then it is just 90 more miles to Riga, Latvia.

It is expected an all-out battle for Pskov should prove one of the war's most important.

A dispatch to Pravda said the Germans were mining the Pskov-Luga highway and blowing up bridges.

Guerrillas greatly aided the Red army in the capture of Luga, which finally fell in an attack on the Germans' left flank by Gen. Khazov's troops.

A big tank battle neared its climax northwest of Zvenigorodka as the weather improved and Soviet Stormovik planes went into action against Nazi armor trying to break through to relieve the weakening remnants of 10 encircled divisions.

FINN PEACE MOVE DUE THIS WEEK

By ROBERT STURDEVANT

STOCKHOLM, Feb. 14 (AP)—An expectancy of some concrete development in Finnish-Russian relations, perhaps within the next two or three days, was evident here today despite the lack of any official indication Finland actually was seeking a way out of the war.

From Helsinki came a report the Finnish capital was awaiting momentarily some definite governmental step toward peace as the Social Democratic party continued heavy pressure on the nation's leaders to seek terms.

Speculation that something may be afoot was given a fresh filip yesterday by the arrival here by plane of Leo Ehrenrooth, Finnish minister of the interior. He had been preceded to Stockholm by Juhu Paasikivi, who helped negotiate the peace treaty that ended the Finnish-Russian war of 1939-40, and Eljas Erkko, former Finnish foreign minister.

(A Reuter dispatch from Stockholm said it was reported without confirmation in the Swedish capital that Russia's minimum peace terms to Finland embrace:

(Return of Finnish troops to the 1940 boundary line, which then would be modified slightly in Russia's favor.

(Soviet occupation of all large Finnish towns with maintenance of Finnish administration.

(Finnish cabinet reorganization to eliminate all strongly anti-Russian members.)

Retribution Near, Reds Warn Finns

LONDON, Feb. 14 (INS)—The hour of retribution is drawing near for Finland, the Moscow radio said today, according to Reuters news agency.

"The avenging hand of justice will give Hitler's Finnish associates full due for their adventurous crimes against the Soviet Union," the broadcast was said to have declared.

Planes Again Pound Rabaul

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Feb. 14 (AP)—Adm. Halsey's Solomons-based squadrons continued their "hit 'em hard and often" tactics against the Japanese base at Rabaul, New Britain, with a 134-ton bombing, Allied headquarters announced today.

In this 12th day of raiding out of the past 14, three enemy planes were downed and probably five others were knocked out of weak interception, while the Allies lost two fighters, Gen. MacArthur's communique said. Rabaul was hit with 174 tons of bombs the day before.

Targets in the day's four attacks were the Tobera and Vunakanau airdromes, two of the four fields protecting the enemy's base, and the Vunapope supply area, which returning pilots said "Got the hell knocked out of it."

Papuan Volcano Erupts

SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA, Feb. 14 (AP)—A volcano on Mt. Goropu, 138 miles east of Port Moresby on the Papuan peninsula of New Guinea, is undergoing its most violent eruption in recent years.

Yanks Pay in Blood at Cassino

By GRAHAM HOVEY

WITH AMERICAN FORCES ON CASSINO FRONT, Feb. 14 (INS)—The Doughboys fighting for Cassino against dogged German resistance without relief or reinforcements since late in January could easily be convinced today they are fighting the whole war alone.

They are giving much and paying a terrific price for the inroads they have made against the German defenses. One general, who must remain unidentified, felt the people back in the States might not care to read about what the infantry is going through because it makes "too unpleasant reading" and he was prompted by this thought to say:

"The infantryman will have to go all the way to the pearly gates and Saint Peter before he will find anyone who really understands what he has been up against."

SOME LOSE THEIR FEET

The rigors undergone by many of the troops were clearly understood after a visit by this correspondent to a clearing hospital. In the hospital were men with swollen, frostbitten feet. Many were shaking and retching violently. Some had to have their feet amputated.

There were men suffering from pneumonia and men suffering from shrapnel wounds. And there was a mere boy who said:

"Sir, if we'd just had fresh men all of us believe we could have put it over. We're broken down! We're tired!"

Then he cried like a baby, not from fear and not from pain, but from utter exhaustion.

The men expressed bitterness over the failure of Allied artillery to shell the Mount Cassino monastery which everyone was agreed the Germans were using to direct artillery fire against the American troops.

"That's what's causing our trouble," said Pvt. Frank O'Sullivan, a rifleman from Wayne, Pa., who is alarmingly mature for his 18 years.

"The boys just can't understand why they don't blast it off there," O'Sullivan said of the Benedictine abbey which the Nazis have taken over despite Papal wishes that Vatican ground remain unmolested.

O'Sullivan also was bitter at the way the Germans often fire their last rounds of ammunition and then attempt to surrender.

"They'd fire everything they had at us, then come out, with their hands up hollering 'kamerad!' Our squad captured five who had been left behind as snipers."

The infantrymen continuing the assault on Cassino include dirty, half-frozen, half-dead creatures gallantly trying to complete a bloody job. Many who have escaped enemy bullets are suffering from frostbite, trench foot or pneumonia contracted by crawling in water-filled foxholes in attempts to press forward through the rubble which once was a city. Often they have had to fight in snow, sleet, rain and mud on the mountain slopes.

Lake Travels To Rural Posts

By AUSTEN LAKE

SOMEWERE IN ENGLAND (by transport mail)—Your gypsy correspondent in wartime Britain must not expect Pullman club-car service on his rail hops between troop centers. He gets out of his 7-by-3 bed by the light o' the early morning moon, shudders into his icy clothes, breakfasts on tea and salami and jeeps from the regimental "guest" house in some rural cow pasture to the nearest town.

(Note: By the standard of any AEF soldier that's not hardship. It's just description.)

There, in the course of time, he boards a train, stows his luggage in an overhead hammock and settles down in a compartment built like the gondola car of a ferris wheel, where he begins gaping at the motley collection of fellow travelers, musing sourly on what an aggregation of circus oddities they are, while they gape back, and think what a human curio he is. This serves to pass the trip with mutual interest.

Thus the scenery crawls by with frequent stops while the asthmatic little engine recovers its puff before giving a shrill yelp and starting off again with a clatter that seems to say "F'r King'n Country . . . F'r King'n Country" So, by stages, it gains the required yardage to bring the writer across his goal, where he stores his baggage in the "parcel office" and follows the white arrow to the local American transportation office (ATO). There he telephones the division command, please, to take him off the town. Which it does with a cordiality that never ceases to be amazing!

(Marginalia—That is one of the many variations of point-to-point travel by which the touring correspondent makes his rounds. And how it went today!)

IN HANDS OF LADY LUCK

Well then, from that have I, he is in the fickle hands of Lady Luck, who, if in kindly humor may uncover some New England soldiers—or, if in sour mood, may not. But not at Division HQ necessarily—although that is where found Staff Sergt. Bill F. Gannon of 18 Middle st., Stoneham, the former Revere cop under Capt. Will Tappen, and whose brother, Sergt. Francis J. of the Boston police (if you remember) once missed death by a miracle when a gang bullet lodged in his pocketbook. And also 2d Lieut. Charles M. Billings of LaPrice Court, Dudley, an ex-teacher in the Junior High School, who took his bachelor's degree at B. C. in '39 and later married Mary (Gibney).

Every bowler will recall Charley's dad, Victor, who, with Al Rich, still holds the world's doubles title. And also Maj. Larry J. Legere of 76 Walnut st., Leominster, who fenced for West Point and only lately received news from home that his brother, Robert, was overseas. On looking up the location of the enclosed postal office address (APO) he found the lad as his own next-door neighbor.

Not usually in Division HQ, I say, but in the dripping dingles of the far-flung countryside—a 12 mile jeep-leap this way, and a 15 mile hedge-hop that. So, at the fag end of today I found nine other home-breds in parcel lots. There was Pvt. George H. Wickens of 24 Congress st., Lawrence, one of a medical unit isolated in a little farm colony amid square miles of plowed fields, haycocks and woods. A slender youth, George, is now the company bugler as reward for his years as a Salvation Army cornetist and bandmaster. His sister, Edna, is an S. A. captain, and his mother, Mrs. Mabel, is a S. A. canteen hostess. (As an old AEFer the S. A. can have my dimes any time!)

Has Mob of Medics

Not that Wickens is withering away through loneliness. (He has a mob of fellow medics.) But his nearest New Englander neighbors live across the country about as far as Ashmont is from Harvard sq.—in a long, brick coachhouse which belongs to a landed English squire, whose hounds and horses have gone the way of war. They are Pvt. Bill F. Boynton of 93 Temple st., Somerville, and Pvt. Francis A. Kozinski of 309 Sterling st., Clinton (David I. Walsh's town.) Bill is a litterbearer for the medics who used to bottle Moxie for Frank Archer, and sip the same with Bill Kehoe at the Blue Hill Cafe. And Francis, a big-boned youth, was a steeple jack who once painted the 332-foot pylons of the Holden radio station, and says he gets mail from Kitty Schneider in bundles of five-a-week.

Accuracy bids me report that the next encampment on the list, on the outer fringe of a granite, smoke-sooted industrial town, was a muddy quagmire where the signal soldiers slithered around in greasy going, and sought solace in

AEF's Main Gripe British Rationing

Rationing, far more rigid here than at home, cause the greatest "gripes" among New England's Berlin-bound fighting men, according to Austen Lake, Boston American war correspondent in Britain.

Weekly rations include one package of chewing gum; seven packages of cigarettes; one bar of soap, and a few other articles that are plentiful at home, Lake writes in his next instalment of his engrossing series.

Read Tuesday's Boston American for this story which may help make it easier for you to accept rationing. Also read the messages of boys from South Boston, Malden, East Boston, Charlestown, Mattapan, Swampscott, Hartford, Ct., Beverly, and many other New England communities.

Curtain Rises On Chaplin's Court Drama

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 14 (INS)—The stage was set today for the next scene in the real life drama involving Charlie Chaplin, in criminal charges based on his relations with his one-time protege, red-haired Joan Berry, also known as Barry.

The famed comedian is scheduled to appear at the United States marshal's office to be "booked" on the four indictments returned against him by the Los Angeles federal grand jury last Thursday.

One of the indictments accuses the actor of transporting Miss Berry across state lines—between Hollywood and New York—for immoral purposes, in violation of the Mann Act.

The others charged that he, along with six others, conspired to violate Miss Berry's civil rights. The accusations were based on the "out-of-town-floater" sentence given the young woman following her arrest in Beverly Hills as a vagrant 13 months ago.

Procedure at the marshal's office will include the fingerprinting of the comedian. However, he will not be required to post bond. The government has waived the $1000 bond originally set and all the defendants are at liberty on their own recognizance.

Slated to appear also at the marshal's office, not necessarily with Chaplin, but during the afternoon, are five of his co-defendants on the conspiracy charges. They are Robert Arden, radio commentator and the actor's close friend; Police Judge Charles J. Griffin, Police Capt. W. W. White, Police Lieut. Claude Marple and Police Matron Jessie Reno.

The sixth co-defendant, Thomas Wells "Tim" Durant, wealthy Hollywood sportsman, has been out of town and it was not known just when he would surrender.

More Snow Due Tonight

Boston is due for more snow, starting about midnight and continuing tomorrow.

A new storm is moving toward New England from the southwest, the weather man said, and a "few" inches of snow is predicted.

Start of the snow is expected tonight after a day in which the mercury is due to linger around the 35 degree mark and thereby create plenty of slushy driving and walking conditions.

The temperature began rising early today after registering a low of 17 degrees at 6:30 a. m.

Natalie to Run For Lieut.-Gov.

Natalie Hays Hammond, ousted commander of the Massachusetts Women's Defense Corps, it was learned today by the Boston American, will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for lieutenant-governor.

The announcement, it is understood, will be made at a dinner in her honor Feb. 28 at the Copley Plaza, with George R. Farnum, former assistant U. S. Attorney-general, presiding.

Natalie Hays Hammond

Among speakers at the dinner to Miss Hammond, now Massachusetts chairman of the national women's council of the Navy League, will be Fulton Lewis, Jr., radio commentator and newspaper columnist; Stark Young, author, critic and editor, and Mrs. John H. Kimball, past president of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs.

Marguerite Namara, star of the Opera Comique, Paris, and the Chicago Opera Co., will sing as guest star of the evening.

Curley Pays City $7000 More

A $7000 payment was made today by Congressman James M. Curley in West Roxbury court toward his $42,629 debt to the city of Boston in compliance with a judgement against him in connection with the General Equipment Corp. case in 1941.

Atty. Wendell Murray, counsel for Curley, said the payment represented a sacrifice "of a good deal of stock." Curley was not in court, Murray explained, because he left many of the documents concerning the case in Washington.

The $7000 left an unpaid balance of $20,200 on the judgment which Curley was ordered to pay at the rate of $500 per week.

Senate Group Studies Legion's Omnibus Bill

By FRANK REILLY
Boston American Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14—The Senate Finance Committee's sub-committee today prepared to study the American Legion's omnibus bill—the so-called "Bill of Rights for GI Joe and GI Jane."

CHRISTMAS IN FEBRUARY—Lieut. Van Heflin, formerly of the films and now of the Army Air Corps, gets the thrill of a lifetime when he returns on leave to his Hollywood home . . . and finds his wife, the former Frances Neal, has postponed Christmas for him . . . and you see it's a gay day for Van, Frances and their baby, Vana Gay.

The sub-committee chairman, Sen. Bennett Champ Clark, a veteran and a charter member of the Legion, called his group into meeting shortly after the Legion-proposed legislation for veterans received the unqualified support of Rep. Thomas D'Alesandro, dean of the Maryland delegation in the House, and an influential member of Congress.

DEMAND ACTION

Petitions demanding immediate action on the bill continued to pour in on Congress today from Legion posts and from friends and relatives of servicemen in all sections of the country.

"I strongly favor real American treatment for our servicemen when they are honorably discharged," said Cong. D'Alesandro. "They should be given adequate unemployment compensation and every facility of government and private industry placed at their disposal to provide jobs at good pay.

"Hospitalization facilities and a real start toward resuming their proper places in civilian life are the least we can do for our service men and women upon discharge.

"MORE THAN A PAT"

"They need more than just a pat on the back. We must show them now that we appreciate their sacrifices. Every man and woman who has served in our armed forces should be given opportunity at government expenses to complete his or her education in our colleges or universities.

"Vocational training should be made available for those who want it so that they may earn an adequate living. We can never repay them for their services in the preservation of our ..ation, but we can and must give them a square deal when they return home."

Salem Grandma Of 14 in War Dies

Death has claimed Salem's proudest grandmother, Mrs. Olive C. Ely, 82, of Upham st., who had 14 grandsons in the armed forces, it was revealed today.

Coincidentally, she passed away Saturday, the day her 14th grandson, Warren E. Call of Salem, was sworn into the Naval Reserves. She died at the Los Angeles home of her granddaughter whom she was visiting. Preparations are being made to bring her body to Salem for burial.

Presented a service flag by the city of Salem for having the most grandsons in the service, Mrs. Ely was proud of the multi-starred banner which hung in her window.

Leave Plea

NEW YORK, Feb. 14 (AP)—The Rev. Stephen J. Meany, S. J., "Fighting 69th" regiment chaplain wounded during the Makin island invasion, today asked the New York archdiocesan Holy Name Union annual meeting to launch a drive for home leave for men who have been away from home more than two years. To support his argument, he quoted an inscription he saw in a Navy boat in the Pacific:

"I have given the best years of my wife to the Navy."

Urge Sec. Hull On F. D. Ticket

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14 (INS)—A small group of President Roosevelt's old-line Democratic advisers are hoping today he will draft Sec. Hull as his running-mate.

They propose Hull for these reasons:

They believe Hull commands the confidence and respect of Congress and the entire nation.

They believe that by obtaining the nomination of Hull, the President would serve notice on the country that his administration would take a turn to the right in settling postwar problems.

10 Fall River Mills Open as 800 Return

FALL RIVER, Feb. 14—With 800 craftsmen of three independent unions returning to their jobs today after a nine-week strike, production was resumed in 10 textile mills here which had been taken over by the Army last Tuesday.

In voting to end the work-stoppage, the skilled crafts unions cleared the way for re-employment of 5000 CIO and 1500 AFL workers who had been thrown out of work by the strike.

Although officials of the striking unions said "issues of the dispute remain unsettled," Col. Curtis G. Pratt, in command of the mills for the Army, said he believed "responsible civilian government agencies can soon reach an equitable settlement."

Assuring workers that the Army will continue in control "only as long as the situation appears unstable," Col. Pratt issued a statement urging them to "do your utmost to make up for lost production."

Earlier, a spokesman for the independent unions issued a statement explaining their decision to end the strike.

"We don't want the Army to lose in Fall River any more than we want the Army to lose in Italy or the South Pacific area and we are returning to work to produce the materials which the Army needs," the statement asserted.

Skilled craftsmen involved in the strike were loom fixers, weavers and knot tiers.

Food Ration 'Blues' and 4 Other Colors Coming Soon

By JAMES MARLOW AND GEORGE ZIELKE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14 (AP)—The ration blues—and reds—are coming back. You're heading into the worst storm of food rationing complications thus far.

During the three weeks starting Feb. 27, you'll be wrestling with two sets of values in figuring how many points you have for meat and canned goods.

But when those three weeks are over, OPA believes food rationing will be a lot simpler for housewives and storekeepers. It's the change-over to tokens.

The fiber-tokens, dime-sized, will be worth one point each. You'll get them in change for ration stamps. There'll be two kinds of tokens, red for meat and fats, blue for canned and other processed foods.

During the overlapping three weeks, some of the old brown and green stamps still will be good for 8, 5, 2 and 1 points as marked on their faces.

New red and blue stamps in ration book 4 will be worth 10 points each regardless of what figures are printed on them.

Boston Doctor Held in Attack On Girl of 17

With a 17-year-old Fields Corner girl as his accuser, Dr. Samuel Weene, 47, of Adams st., Dorchester, pleaded not guilty today in Dorchester court to charges of assault and battery and indecent assault.

The physician, well known in the Fields Corner section, was released in a total of 5100 bail for a hearing Feb. 24.

Charges against Dr. Weene were brought by Miss Mary Burke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Burke of Leonard st., Dorchester.

According to her complaint, he committeed the alleged assault upon her last Tuesday when she called at his office to undergo an examination.

Dr. Weene, however, denied to police when arrested Saturday any such incident occurred at the office.

Miss Burke, her sister and their mother were in the courthouse while the physician was being arraigned, but they were not present in the courtroom.

Police said Dr. Weene was formerly known as Samuel Weinberg and Samuel Weinberger. They said also he is divorced and has a so nin military service.

Mrs. Katherine McLaughlin

Dr. William Mulligan today heaped praise on Mrs. Katherine McLaughlin, the neighbor, who followed his telephone coaching and delivered the infant with the aid of two policemen.

Mrs. McLaughlin had called the hospital to inform the doctor that birth was imminent. Realizing he couldn't get to the Hinckley house in time, Dr. Mulligan instructed Mrs. McLaughlin on what to do, and notified police to rush a prowl car there.

The physician kept the telephone line open and Mrs. McLaughlin held frequent conferences with him as she supervised the birth. When Patrolmen Francis Roust and John Sheridan arrived from the Brighton station, they assisted in blanket-wrapping both mother and the new arrival and took them to the hospital.

Yank Raids Slash Nazi Plane Output

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14 (AP)—American heavy bombers pinpointing German aircraft factories have cut the heart out of fighter plane production in the Reich, it was reported officially today.

Charles E. Wilson, executive vice-chairman of the War Production Board, announced the War Department had informed him United States Army Air Force raids had reduced Germany's capacity to produce fighter planes by 40 per cent.

Quad Lambs

PIPESTONE, Minn., Feb. 14 (AP)—Mary had a little lamb but Bob Peterson has four of them, two sets born under unusual circumstances.

The mother ewe first gave birth to twins, which isn't news at all. But two weeks after the first event, the same ewe produced another set of twins. A neighbor is bottle-feeding the late comers.

South End Fires Drive Out 60

Three South End fires routed 60 persons this morning, and caused an estimated total damage of $2550.

Thirty roomers fled from flames in a Hanson st. lodging house.

Fire and smoke drove 20 tenants from a Hudson st. apartment house. Police said the fire was caused by spontaneous combustion in the first floor flat of Harry Ming.

Ten more persons ran to safety from a blaze which originated in the second floor apartment of Lena Parsons on Dwight st. and spread to the adjoining home of Arthur De Nicolo.

Probe Arlington Fire That Drove Out 7

Cause of a fire in a two-family house in Franklin st., Arlington, which drove seven persons in night clothes to the street in near-zero weather, was under investigation today.

The blaze was discovered by Frances Cowbourne, nine-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Cowbourne, residents of the second floor apartment. They awakened the downstairs tenants and all fled to safety.

'L' Tieup Makes Thousands Late

After rolling out of bed at dawn to get in a lick for the war effort at their home front jobs, thousands of Boston workers arrived late at work today, vowing they couldn't help it.

They weren't fibbing. The cause of their tardiness was a bulky two-car unit on the Lake st.-Commonwealth ave. line. It reached Kenmore station 10 minutes late, with scores of other cars crawling behind it.

Jap Ruling on Oil

NEW YORK, Feb. 14 (AP)—The Tokyo radio said today the Japanese cabinet had decided to place the "uel oil industry on a priority par with the aviation, shipbuilding, coal, iron, steel and transportation industries.

Hopkins' Son Killed at Namur

NAMUR, Kwajalein Atoll, Marshall Islands, Feb. 14 (AP)—Stephen Hopkins, 18, youngest son of Harry L. Hopkins, friend and adviser of President Roosevelt, died getting what he wanted—combat action.

Stephen, who preferred fighting as a Marine private to a chance to go to officers' candidate school, was killed the first night of the battle for Namur islet. A light machine-gunner, he was shot through the head as he ran into a crossfire between U. S. Marines and Jap snipers, and died aboard a hospital ship.

Trace Phone Call In Hotel Murder

CHICAGO, Feb. 14 (INS)—Attempt to trace a mysterious telephone call from the apartment of Mrs. Adele Born Williams in the Drake Hotel occupied attention of investigators of her murder today.

The telephone call was made in the afternoon when Mrs. Williams and her daughter both were absent and was to a northside tavern of unsavory repute.

Cynthia Thompson, 5, of Gloucester, cuddles her doll as fire officials today opened an investigation in the fire and explosion that took the lives of four brothers and sisters while their mother, Mrs. Rhoda L. Thompson, 24, was visiting a neighbor. The children's father, Raymond, was notified of the tragedy at Camp Blanding, where he is stationed.

Couple's Valentine 14th Child on 14th

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel MacLean of Gaston st., Roxbury, received a remarkable valentine at 8:50 a. m. this morning, but minus the usual lacy hearts and flowers.

It was their fourteenth child, born on the fourteenth day of the month—a husky boy weighing 9 pounds 12 ounces.

An hour after birth, mother and son were so well and frolicsome doctors and nurses at the Forest Hills Hospital were marveling at the excellent health of both.

The baby, named Alfred Edward after an uncle, is already an uncle himself, having four nieces and nephews, Mrs. McLean being the grandmother of four.

Her oldest boy, Malcolmn, 20, is a sailor in the Navy, somewhere on a faroff battle front, and her four older daughters are all married, and each has one child. Three of them live in Roxbury: Ethel MacLean Johnson, 23; Constance MacLean Awalt, 21, and Virginia MacLean Haddix, 18. The fourth, Mildred MacLean LeMare, 16, lives in Vermont.

Margaret, 12 and Ann, 9, are at home, as are Samuel, Jr., 14; Howard, 12; Russell, 8, and Richard, 6. Two of the 14 died, but with the arrival of Alfred this morning the score is tied at six boys and six girls.

The father, Samuel MacLean, is a mechanic and today is having a tough time preventing "the boys" where he works from finding out about his "valentine."

Japs Use U.S. Tags In Fiendish Ruse

KWAJLEIN ISLAND, The Marshalls, Feb. 7 (Delayed) (INS)—This is our enemy:

Soldiers wit hthe Seventh Army division that took the southern islands of Kwajalein atoll wore new style identification tags.

Their "dog tags" had no home address or names of relatives because the Japs have inaugurated a new wrinkle in psychological warfare.

In recent months they have taken "dog tags" from bodies of dead officers, waited long enough to give the War Department time to notify the family of the death, and then spread miserable hope and confusion by writing to the families the officers were well, alive and prisoners.

WAAF Strangled During London Raid

LONDON, Feb. 14 (AP)—Scotland Yard was given a new air raid murder mystery to solve today with discovery of the partly disrobed body of a young WAAF beneath an RAF greatcoat in a victory-garden plot in Eltham, southeast London.

The girl had been strangled. Any cries probably were drowned out by the noise of the barrage during last night's raid.

It's Mom First

MITCHEL FIELD, N. Y., Feb. 14 (INS)—Valentine sales at Mitchel Field prove that Mom is G. I. Joe's No. 1 sweetheart by a vote of 2 to 1 according to a tabulation today at the Army air post exchange.

Valentines titled "To My Mother" led in sales volume, with valentine greetings to wives running second and cards for the girl friend a close third.

Statistics also reveal that the average unmarried and unengaged service man sends valentines to at least three girls!

Bloom Urges Board For Prisoner Swap

By RAY RICHARDS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14—The most definite advance yet made in the creation of a United States War Prisoners Commission came today when Rep. Sol Bloom, New York Democrat, gave complete approval to the plan as chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

The Bloom committee would be a key factor in congressional establishment of an agency which could move outside narrow diplomatic channels toward the recovery of thousands of American civilians and disabled soldiers from Japanese captivity, and toward assurances of better treatment for able-bodied military prisoners who cannot be exchanged.

SEE F. D. APPROVAL

Rep. Bloom's statement also gave new assurance that the Administration, including the State Department, will not oppose establishment of the commission, which is heralded by both Democrats and Republicans as a highly practical step.

Rep. Bloom, aware that former Ambassador Joseph C. Grew has informally expressed willingness to become the chief advisor of the proposed commission, said he would attend a meeting of House members late this week to discuss the form of resolution to be introduced.

Steps for a companion resolution in the Senate will be taken after the House group has met and extended an invitation to senators for a conference.

LIST JAPS HERE

Legislators will continue this week with a parallel program to list alien Japanese and disloyal Japanese-Americans in this country for possible exchange for Americans in Japanese hands.

The 15-member Japanese affairs committee of the three West Coast House delegations is to meet today for discussions of a Department of Justice expatriation bill.

The bill, personally sponsored by Atty.-Gen. Biddle, would disregard previous statements of disloyalty by thousands of Japanese-Americans and would call for new statements, which would automatically revoke citizenship rights and make the signers subject to deportation.

$6000 Medford Fire Hits Riding School

Damage was set at $6000 today in the blaze which swept the Martin Riding Academy, Woburn st., West Medford. Fire in the two-and-a-half story building gave firemen from Winchester, Arlington and Malden a stiff battle before it was brought under control.

Harness, saddles and riding togs of many girl students were destroyed, but it was not necessary to evacuate 25 horses kept in an adjoining stable.

Army Gives 126,525 Medals

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14 (AP)—The Army had distributed 126,525 decorations among 7,500,000 men up to Jan. 1, while the Navy had awarded but 7073 medals to its 2,800,000 personnel.

The apparent unbalance appears to lie almost entirely in the different treatment of honors for the aviation branches.

Eight out of nine Army decorations were Distinguished Flying Crosses or air medals (including Oak Leaf Clusters, which denote a second award of the same medal). In the Navy, only one medal in three was a "DFC" or an air medal.

Repeat awards of a medal are so rare in the Navy that separate figures were not available. In the Army the number of clusters was 60,474, of which 59,994 were aviation honors, compared with 66,051 original decorations.

The air branch accounts for just under one-third of total personnel in both the Army and the Navy.

The Army Air Medal was the most generally distributed award—40,585 medals and 58,596 Oak Leaf Clusters. The key to this is the interpretation of the regulations under which the award becomes automatic for a specified number of flights in combat operations.

The Navy has no such method of automatic awards, but beyond that does not appear to be particularly stingy with honors.

It recently was noted, however, that Maj. Gregory Boyington, Marine Corps fighter pilot reported missing after shooting down his 26th Japanese plane, had not received a decoration.

Navy officials had no explanation for the situation beyond saying that they hold to a rigid interpretation of the statutes authorizing the various decorations. Shooting down the enemy is a fighting man's job, an official said, and therefore an award is not justified unless circumstances make the action "unusually meritorious."

The figures on awards do not include the Purple Heart, which is given automatically for combat wounds requiring treatment by a medical officer. The Army rates the Purple Heart above the Air Medal; the Navy rates it below.

Rap Army Neglect Of Near-Blind Vet

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 14—Attempts of some Army medical officers to deny the callous manner in which blinded young Robert Wetzel was pushed out of the Army, less than four months after he left his eyesight on an Italian battle field, today aroused the indignation of the Wetzel family and veterans' leaders.

Wetzel is the 20-year-old soldier from McCloud who, the Examiner disclosed Sunday, spent almost his last dime to buy his own glasses the day an Army hospital discharged him.

The boy veteran said an Army medical officer told him the Army could not pay for glasses because he was being discharged—although the soldier had been given to understand earlier that his very eyesight depended upon those glasses.

SAYS PAY DUE

He arrived at McCloud with but $2 in his pocket, explaining that five months of Army pay had not caught up with him.

The surgeon general's office at Washington said the boy disobeyed instructions when he bought the glasses—that it had been explained to him it would be dangerous to wear them for some time yet.

But all the Army's denials—which the young veteran and his family contradict—could not explain away these points:

1—Why this young man, with his total vision in jeopardy, should have been discharged before maximum vision had been restored to the eye which might be saved.

SAY EYE ENDANGERED

2—Why an Army doctor, knowing or claiming that stronger glasses might ruin the soldier's chance for vision if worn now, should give the soldier a prescription for stronger glasses.

Washington said the boy was told the facilities of the Veterans' Administration were open to him, free of charge, for future treatment to improve his vision.

But Wetzel says:

"On the contrary," he said, "the officer sent me to the post exchange to get the glasses. That was where I bought them, paying $8 of my money."

Doctor Jailed For Polygamy

Dr. Louis J. Badia, 40, of Oak st., Newton Upper Falls, today was sentenced to house of correction for six months on a charge of polygamy despite a strong plea for leniency by his counsel.

Judge Francis J. Good in Middle Superior Court, commended Atty. Frederick V. McMenimen on his appeal but said he must perform his duty to the public by imposing a jail sentence.

McMenimen presented a petition signed by 500 patients and friends of Dr. Badia asking he be set free.

The polygamy charge was lodged by Mrs. Joan R. Badia of New Rochelle, N. Y., after Dr. Badia obtained a Mexican divorce and married for a second time last August.

the dry warmth of their huts, or the proximity of the gray town. However, the spot was seen at disadvantage, due to a constant churning of the chocolate smear by foot and trucks, during an equally constant downpour.

So there, pretending not to notice, was Pvt. Charles D. Reed of 16 Maude st., Lowell, a fourth degree K. of C. under the grand knighthood of Ed. Ryan. (He once managed the Andover First National Store when steak was plenty, @ 45c. the pound). Also, Corp. Clement J. Hasenfus of 970 Dedham st., Newton Center—a 1940 grad of Boston College, who boasts the happy fortune of seeing his alma mammy tie Harvard 6-6 last November during his final furlough.

And Corp. Paul Malher of 736 Crescent st., Brockton, who adopted that city for his future home though marriage to Linnie Williams last Nov. 7. (They were parted after a week's honeymoon by his overseas order.) And Corp. Joe L. Oppicci of 297 Gray st., Arlington, an Alpha Delta Phi at Boston U., who wants to tell his mother, Mrs. Rose, that he likes this place. (Actually!) 4

Meet Red Cross Greeter

The final New Englander on the agenda is no soldier at all, but a Red Cross man named Joe L. Sheerin of 17 Greenough ave., Cambridge — a balding, round faced and genial gent who is big-brother, privy counsellor, social chaperone, family notary and long distance listener for a constant flow of soldiers who overrun his converted church-school for fun, food and philosophy.

Joe's job calls for tact in handling the many delicate problems that the men bring—home worries, or family financial tangles or personal mixups, for which the Army has no cure. If it comes to a legitimate money loan, Joe makes it without usury or a binding note. If it is family trouble, he uses the transatlantic cable like a tightrope walker.

A tow-headed soldier with a pucker between his eyes came in while I sat there, shifting diffidently on his feet, and dry-wringing his cap. "C'mon fella, sit town," invited Joe. The kid had married on short courtship, shipped overseas, heard a few times from his bride, and—then silence! He'd written, but no answer. Was she sick . . . or what?

Joe took down the data painstakingly. He'd handled many hundreds such problems. "Now look, lad," he said, "No good chewing away. I'll have an answer tomorrow—sure! C'min at 7 p. m." During the evening he dispatched a prepaid cable to the kid's home town Red Cross—there's one in every hamlet. Before another 24 hours, he'd have the kid's answer.

There was none of the gimme-that-great-big-smile kind of stuff about the many Joe Sheerins I've seen in the Red Cross canteen offices throughout England—a better, more solid breed than the cookie pushers who handled the special service job of the last war.

Wilson's Eldest Daughter, 57, Dies

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 14 (AP) —Mrs. Eleanor Wilson McAdoo said today she was advised by cablegram that her sister, Margaret Woodrow Wilson, 57, eldest of the late President's three daughters, died Saturday of uremia in Pondicherry, India.

For the past four years she had been studying the religious teachings of Sri Aurobindo at a secluded colony of Aurobindo's students, said Mrs. McAdoo.

Ask War Vet Records Be Filed

Rep. David M. Cleary of Charlestown today filed with the clerk of the House an amendment to Chapter 115 of the General Laws as an aid to servicemen and women in preserving record of their discharges and other service documents.

The amendment would make it mandatory, rather than discretionary, on the part of a city or town clerk to record and keep copies of such papers free of charge, and to furnish copies to the original holders free.

Under the present law, the clerk was not required to do this and also could charge fees of 25 cents for recording and 50 cents each for copies. The present law likewise makes no provision for women and their war service records.

Many veterans, after the last war, carried their discharges with them until they were lost or became deciperable.

Rep. Cleary said he will seek to have Gov. Saltonstall include recommendation of the amendment in his special message when the special session of the Legislature is convened.

Navy Cites 5 Men For War Heroism

Two Massachusetts men have been presented the Navy and Marine Corps Medal, another received the Air Medal, and two more First Naval District announced today.

The Air Medal was awarded to Lieut. (jg) Edward Francis Hughes, of South st., Medford, for courageous dive-bombing against the Japanese in the Solomon islands.

For his heroism in saving two comrades while fighting a raging fire at the Pemberton supply pier in Hull last July 25, Peter Kallas, 23, USCG, motor machinist's mate 1/c, won the Navy and Marine Corps Medal. Kallas, son of Mrs. Angellina Kallas, of English st., Peabody, braved a wall of flame and suffered serious burns.

The same award went to William James King, 38, a carpenter in the Civil Engineer Corps, USNR, for "meritorious conduct while in charge of repairs at an advanced naval operating base." His citation said he organized and directed extremely difficult ship repair work despite serious disadvantages. King lived with his wife, Mrs. Molena King, in Arlington st., Everett.

James Gerald O'Brien, storekeeper, 1/c, USNR, son of Mrs. James O'Brien, of Gorham st., Lowell, was commended by the Chief of Naval Personnel for "courage and initiative" at a disastrous fire at the Naval Air Station, Argentia, Newfoundland, on Jan. 12, last.

Mariano Luciano Pulli, storekeeper 2/c, USNR, 25-year-old Medford native, was commended for "exceptional bravery" in the rescue of an officer during the same fire.

Wanted by Fleischmann! Good Judges of Good Whiskey To Try a Great New Brand!

"IT'S A WINNER!" says Marvin Briggs, New York Real Estate Man. "So super-rich, so deliciously smooth—it mixes like a million. I never tasted a richer whiskey!"

Wouldn't You Like to Serve a Whiskey that has the Full, Ripe Richness of the World's Finest, Most Limited Brands? If you would, now you can! Read why!

• This invitation is written for the few men who are really good judges of good whiskey . . . who can appreciate a whiskey that is as gloriously rich, creamy and delicious as the world's finest, most limited brands—and who do not need anything more to confirm them in their judgment.

We set out several years ago to see if we could make such a whiskey. We spared no expense. We experimented. We drew from the world's choicest reserves. We selected the finest grains, and backed them up with the world's most delicate skill.

The result is—Fleischmann's PREFERRED, one of the world's most remarkable whiskies. Velvety! Creamy! Full! Delicious! We are sorry that we can offer Fleischmann's PREFERRED only in limited amounts as all our distilling facilities are devoted 100% to the war effort. If your dealer has Fleischmann's PREFERRED, try it! You'll always be glad you did!

"YOU'VE HIT THE JACKPOT!" says Russell Ervin, Motion Picture Camera Ace. "Since 1933 I've tried at least 25 whiskies—but none with such richness, smoothness, and taste! This whiskey has got everything!"

"IT'S A MASTERPIECE!" is the careful verdict of A. L. Keller, Grocers' Association President. "It's got creamy taste! Amazing mellowness! Pleasing flavor! What more could a man want in a whiskey?"

FLEISCHMANN'S PREFERRED BLENDED WHISKEY

FLEISCHMANN'S PREFERRED Blended Whiskey. The straight whiskies in this product are 4 years or more old; 35% straight whiskies, 65% neutral spirits distilled from grain. 90 Proof.

Spur Small Bonds As Drive Nears End

With the deadline of the month-long Fourth War Loan campaign less than 48 hours away, the State War Finance Committee reported that while war bond sales to corporations are well over the top, sales to individuals are only about half-way to the goal.

Volunteers planned to intensify their drive today and tomorrow to boost sales to individuals, and F. W. Denio, state chairman, said he expects Massachusetts will place among the leading states when final returns are in.

He pointed out that bond purchases by individuals are lagging throughout the nation and Massachusetts is only slightly under the national average.

So far, one of the outstanding features of the campaign has been the performance of school children. Returns for the three-day "Junior Minute Man" drive in the Boston schools netted $653,093 from the sale of about 17,000 individual bonds, with about 15 per cent of the schools still to be reported.

A novel inducement to prospective bond purchases is offered by a downtown parking center for the final day of the drive. Free parking will be extended for the day by the Winthrop Square Parking Co. to every motorist purchasing a $25 war bond there. First ten purchasers of $5000 bonds will receive a month's free parking service.

"Blondie," America's great human interest comic strip, appears every day in the Boston American.

BACK FROM HELL . . By Burris Jenkins, Jr.

"I CLIMB BACK UP TO MY LITTLE RADIO SHACK... NOW SO STRANGE AND QUIET...
RADIOMAN 3RD "CHARLIE" SCHULTZ OF JUNCTION CITY KANSAS.
"WE BUILD A FIRE—ALL OF OUR FEET ARE FROSTBITTEN... SOME CANNOT WALK FOR TEN DAYS..."
"A CATALINA FLIES OVER MANNED BY RUSSIANS.
"THEN THE SUB SURFACES... IT GLIDES OVER TO US AND STOPS WITHIN STEPPING DISTANCE...
BURRIS JENKINS JR.

IT'S a long way from Junction City, Kan., to a pin-point island in the Arctic Circle and 21 half-frozen men living on native birds and brine-soaked flour . . .

But Charlie Schultz made it—and back.

Folks in Junction City don't know much about Charles W. Schultz, radioman 3/c, U. S. N., cited for bravery "beyond the call of duty" in the torpedoing of the S. S. ——— somewhere off Archangel in the Barents sea . . .

Of course, they know young Charlie—the blond kid who operated the motion picture machine in the local theater, and his father, for 42 years compositor on the newspaper.

How the "call of the sea" reached into the dusty, sun-splashed streets of Junction City, Kan., for little Charlie is hard to say.

"I guess I wasn't thinking about getting wet," he says, his slow grin exposing a missing front tooth. "Partly I wanted to learn about radio which is the nearest thing to motion pictures.

"I forgot to mention that I got married two weeks before being called to active service . . .

"So I didn't hardly have time for a honeymoon before they send me to Great Lakes, the radio school at Indianapolis, the school for merchant procedure at Noroton Heights, Ct., and a month later to the Brooklyn Armed Guard Center where in a week I find myself on a medium-sized freighter bound north in the North Atlantic.

"At that time the U. S. 'Armed Guard' on this ship consists of one signalman—and me. I'm doing 4 on and 4 off with a commercial operator in the radio shack and pretty soon I get accustomed to the equipment and my little berth in the shack high in the boat deck aft of the bridge.

"Anyway we have no trouble until we get to a port where our signalman gets appendicitis which leaves me to represent the entire Armed Guard on our ship as we shove off for Iceland! (Oh yes, they give us four 30-30 Marlin machine gunners and four British gunners to man them.)

"From Iceland we head for Russia.

"We're seven days out when an enemy plane picks us up and for a day and a half long-range spotter planes follow us. That's easy up there this time of year where it never gets dark.

"Then come the long-range dive-bombers and for six and a half days our big convoy catches hell. The bombing gets worse and for the last three days they send torpedo planes over.

"We lose a number of ships. Finally things get too hot and we get orders to break up the convoy and spread out over the Barents Sea . . .

"We split up fan-wise and turn on utmost speed and pretty soon our ship is all alone . . .

"On Sunday I receive several distress messages. Finally one plane spots us and dives on us. We light smoke pots and the pilot can't see us in the smoke and the bombs land 30 feet away.

"Every time we see a plane we light a pot. The smoke smells bad and you have to wear a wet handkerchief over your nose. Once a plane comes, looks us over, and flies on thinking we're afire.

"About 20 miles further on our pots are burned out and we come on some of our bombed ships. There are two afloat, both burning bad enough to explode. There are lifeboats floating around and we ask the crews if they want to come aboard. Most of them say no.

Survivors Refuse Offer of Rescue

"They figure they're safer in a lifeboat 360 miles from the nearest Russian land—especially since we don't have room for them in our two life boats if anything happens to us.

"Two hours later we come on another vessel burning. The survivors had been picked up.

"Next night we sight the island we had been looking for and now we steer a course straight for our port.

"It's about 11 o'clock that night, 20 miles beyond the island, when we get ours.

"I'm asleep in my bunk when the torpedo hits. The explosion throws me out on the deck. There's water all over the cabin and the ship is vibrating so that when I get to my feet I can hardly get the door open.

"Out on the boat deck I see the ship isn't going down right away so I go back in my cabin and put on my arctics and the rest of my clothes, including my peacoat with my wife's picture in the pocket and life jacket.

"I go out to see what's going on and find we've been torpedoed amidships by a sub and six men were killed in the engine room. Only one of our life boats is left and they're trying to launch it.

"I see the captain help trying to get the boat away and I ask him permission to send a distress message. He grants permission. I ask him our position and he says, 'Hell—ask the first officer!'

"The first officer gives me our position and I climb back up to the deserted boat deck and into the familiar little radio shack, which now seems strange and quiet—like Sunday in a cemetery.

"I'm trembling a good deal from the excitement and mighty glad I'd made out my distress message ahead of time. All I have to do is fill in our position and then read it off as I send it. I get off three or four messages and then go back on deck.

"Meantime, a sea has swept away our lifeboat while they're lowering it. Several men are left hanging to the ropes—including the commercial radio man—but they climb back aboard and now I see 'em going off in life rafts.

"Those of us left kick loose a raft from the pelican hook and, after getting blankets, step onto the raft. The main deck is now level with the sea so it's just a good-sized step.

"There are 15 or 16 of us on the raft. It's pretty rough and the raft it wet. We have small oars and manage to pull away from the ship.

"Then the sub surfaces. It breaks water a few hundred feet away and glides over to one of the other rafts. It comes over to us and stops within stepping distance.

"The sub captain hollers, 'Hello!' We don't say anything. Then he asks in broken English the name of the ship. We tell him. Then he asks what kind of cargo we carry. We say, 'General.' (That's what we'd been instructed to say.)

"He asks if we have any explosives aboard. We answer again, 'Just general cargo.' Then he asks if we need anything to eat or drink. We need it all right, but we tell him, 'No.'

"He's not a bad guy, this sub captain—not as bad as most of 'em. He tells us the direction of the nearest land and how far. He steams off in the mist and disappears. Then we hear him shelling the ship.

We Drift Around for Two and a Half Days

"We start looking around for other rafts and catch up with one and tie it to ours. We try to get a third, but it's too rough. Finally we get an empty raft which makes more room for us.

"We sit around for two and a half days, rowing to keep warm.

"The compass is no good, but we have watches and try to steer toward the sun, which we can barely see, for eight hours of the 24. We use the distress flag for a sail.

"When we land on this island, four or five have bad frozen feet and though all our feet are numb with frost bite we carry them ashore on our backs.

"We build a fire and the fellows that sit by it and don't help hunt up firewood are the ones that catch it worse later—they can't walk for 10 days—just crawl on hands and knees.

"The rest of us get circulation back in our feet by walking and half of us set out for a lighthouse three miles across the island.

"We decide to stay at the lighthouse rather than walk back. One man goes back to tell those on the beach. (There are 21 of us on the island.)

"All we have is emergency rations of chocolate, malted milk tablets, hard-tack biscuits, and pemmican (condensed fruits, raisins and sweets) and pretty soon that runs low.

"We start catching funny-looking birds—something like little penguins.

"One day somebody finds three bags of flour washed ashore. We mix the dry flour in the center with melted snow and make dough and twist it around a stick and cook it over the fire. Not bread mother bakes, but something to put in your stomach.

"On the eighth day a Catalina manned by Russians flies over and picks up the guys on the beach.

"There's no rom for us so they drop a message saying they'll be back. We wait two days.

"Then the Catalina comes back. It lands on the water off shore and sends a rubber raft in for us. They fly us up the island and put us aboard a British merchant ship. We're four days there when some corvettes come out and escort us into port.

"We're six weeks in the hospital, mostly because of our feet.

"British and American men-o-war get us back to the States—and a 21-day 'sunshine' leave."

EISENHOWER'S LETTERS HOME
"Cordially Yours, Ike"
FEB. 20
SUNDAY ADVERTISER

What's in a Name?

VICE-PRESIDENT WALLACE gave an amazingly frank, if not especially new, explanation of President Roosevelt's attempt to jettison the "New Deal" slogan in a recent San Francisco press conference.

Mr. Wallace said with complete candor that the slogan has become a political liability because "to some the definition of New Deal is Washington bureaucrats and red tape."

This being so, he continued:

"I think the President is willing to kick that phrase out the door, if that is what the people want."

However, Mr. Wallace admonished:

"I don't think his heart has changed in the PRINCIPLES of the New Deal."

In other words, the President is perfectly willing to change the name of the New Deal, and in fact is glad of the opportunity to do so.

But he has no intention of changing the CHARACTER of the New Deal, whatever its odor.

This will remind the American people of nothing quite so much as Shakespeare's answer to the query: "What's in a name?" "That which we call a rose," wrote the bard, "by any other name would smell as sweet."

And that which the American people call the New Deal, and know it by its totalitarian stench, would smell as offensively by any other name.

It is not what the New Deal is called that offends the people. They know it stinks.

The people came to suspect very early in the New Deal era that the New Deal was not what it declared itself to be.

It was SUPPOSED to reduce the costs of government and thus reduce taxes because, as Candidate Roosevelt said in 1932, "taxes are paid in the sweat of the people."

Remember?

But the New Deal has ever since PYRAMIDED the costs of government, and PYRAMIDED taxes and PYRAMIDED debts.

It was SUPPOSED to end the depression, but it only SPREAD the depression and increased unemployment.

It was SUPPOSED to reduce bureaucracy in government because, as Candidate Roosevelt said in 1932, the Administration he was then trying to supplant and DID supplant "HAS PILED BUREAU ON BUREAU, COMMISSION ON COMMISSION."

In fact, said Candidate Roosevelt in 1932, he would begin HIS Administration "BY ABOLISHING USELESS COMMISSIONS AND OFFICES, CONSOLIDATING DEPARTMENTS AND BUREAUS AND ELIMINATING EXTRAVAGANCE."

Remember?

But instead, after twelve years, the popular definition of the New Deal, as Mr. Wallace acknowledges, is "WASHINGTON BUREAUCRATS AND RED TAPE."

The New Deal was supposed to keep the United States out of war, because President-Candidate Roosevelt said in 1940:

"TO EVERY MAN, WOMAN AND CHILD IN THIS NATION I SAY THIS: YOUR PRESIDENT AND YOUR SECRETARY OF STATE ARE FOLLOWING THE ROAD TO PEACE. WE ARE ARMING OURSELVES NOT FOR ANY FOREIGN WAR. WE ARE ARMING OURSELVES NOT FOR ANY PURPOSE OF CONQUEST OR INTERVENTION IN FOREIGN DISPUTES."

Remember? The American people remember all right.

And the thing the American people most sadly remember is that the New Deal did not properly arm the nation even for DEFENSE, as Pearl Harbor and the subsequent Japanese conquests in the Pacific attested.

It is not a meaningless change in name for the New Deal that the American people desire and contemplate.

It is the New Deal ITSELF, the whole unsavory, fraudulent, bureaucratic and spendthrift mess of it, that IS GOING OUT THE DOOR.

That has been the trend in all recent elections.

Hearst Papers Thanked

RABBI EDGAR F. MAGNIN,
WILSHIRE BOULEVARD TEMPLE,
Los Angeles, February 1, 1944.

Mr. William Randolph Hearst,
McCloud, California (Wyntoon).
Dear Mr. Hearst:

JUST A LINE to tell you how much I appreciate the splendid editorial which appeared in the Examiner, and I presume in all the Hearst papers, a few days ago, relating to the abrogation of the White Paper.

Nothing could be more pathetic than the millions of helpless Jews in Europe. They are people who are driven from pillar to post and have no place whereon to lay their heads.

Your fine outspoken appeal for justice is one that is deeply appreciated by the Jewish people throughout this land.

May I also compliment you on the stand the Hearst papers have been taking in behalf of our discharged veterans.

With best wishes, and hoping you are feeling well, I am

Sincerely and cordially,
EDGAR F. MAGNIN.

On the Side . . . . .

God give us men! A time like this demands,
Strong minds, great hearts, true faith and ready hands,
Men whom the lust of office does not kill,
Men whom the spoils of office cannot buy;
Men who possess opinions and a will;
Men who have honor; men who will not lie.

—HOLLAND.

YOU might clip the above and enclose it in your next letter to your Congressman and, as a P.S., you could quote: "A politician thinks of the next election! A statesman of the next generation." . . . You never see a WAC escorted by a civilian. Is there a rule against it? Don't the WACS like civilians? Or are civilians embarrassed when they go out with WACS? The same situation seems to prevail with WAVES and SPARS . . . After World War I was 51 months in progress, the cost of living in the United States had increased 5C per cent. Now World War II is 51 months old and the cost of living in this country has increased only 26 per cent. So states the OPA . . . Is now being said that women make much better hotel clerks than men. Women, state hotel experts, are more courteous, more diplomatic and have a far greater ability to make guests feel at home.

ASIDES: Mrs. Mary Jurosov of Detroit was a grandmother at the age of 32. And now if you are a sports fan, answer this one: What American League baseball player, active in 1943, is a grandfather? . . . Played gin rummy last night. I lost. Guess I'll have to take some lessons from Damon Runyon. Anyway, pinochle is my game . . . Now I have a reader in Napa, Cal., named Norma Talmadge. She is not named after the film star, nor is she any relation. Maybe we should start a "Namesakes of The Famous Club" . . . Auld Lang Syne note: George Van Haltern, once a Giant outfielder, is living in Oakland, Cal. George was one of the last major league players to sport a handle bar mustache. I think the last was John Titus of the Phillies.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: WAC Second Lieut. Lillian Miller, a cute little trick type, has become such an expert at Judo that she quickly throws soldiers weighing 200 pounds or more. Lillian looks like a good candidate for president of the "Little But, Oh My! Club." She's a blonde, of course . . . Is stubbornness a characteristic of the Scots? If not, why is it that in the annual soccer football game between England and Scotland, the Scots for years have stubbornly refused to permit their players to be numbered so the spectators can distinguish them?

"You dumb cluck! You hopeless jerk! You blundering idiot! How I wish you knew what I think of you!"

SIDELIGHTS: The speed record for writing popular songs is held by the writers of the ditty titled "Margie." Russell Robinson, Con Conrad and Benny Davis wrote this song in ten minutes. It sold nearly two million copies . . . A Chicago girl says though she is considered good looking that in all her 29 years of life she never has been kissed in a movie theater. Certainly this must be a record for Chicago . . . White collar workers in some of New York's Wall Street firms are being rapidly unionized . . . National doughnut week starts on March 20th. I like twisted crullers better. After that, give me a sweet bun with plenty of raisins. And in third place, I put a jelly doughnut. . . . In 1943, in London, there was more money bet on dog races than there was on horse races around New York City. There are 18 dog tracks in or around London and most of them operate continuously . . . The United Nations may consider a negotiated peace with Germany in order to turn their 100 per cent attention to forcing the Japs to an unconditional surrender.

PASSING BY: W. S. Hart. The good old "Two Gun Man" in person. Because of his impressive career as a film star, Mr. Hart's brilliant legitimate stage career has been forgotten. Bill was over 40 years of age on the day he made his first appearance in front of a movie camera. During his long career on the stage he had been a leading man for Mme. Modjeska, played Romeo to Julia Arthur's Juliet, was the original Messala in Ben Hur, portrayed Cash Hawkins in The Squaw Man and the title role in The Virginian. Before he became an actor, Bill worked in the New York Postoffice and was quite a good amateur track athlete.

OVID SAID: "Whether they yield or refuse, it delights women to have been asked." Observed Bhartrihari: "A woman talks to one man, looks at another and thinks of a third." Horace Greeley stated: "A widow of doubtful age will marry almost any sort of a white man." George Herbert claimed: "Who marries a widow and two daughters marries three thieves."

PLEASE NOTE: Davis Walsh, brilliant sportscribe, says I made a mistake. He says the real name of the former ballplayer, Sammy Strang, was Sammy Nicklin. Fact is his real name was Strang Nicklin. That is, his first name was Strang. Called himself Sammy Strang because his mother objected to a Nicklin playing professional baseball. Mr. Walsh will please forward stogie by return mail . . . "My Sister and I" was an appealing popular song. Wish somebody would sing it on the air again. Guess I will have to look for a record of it . . . "Tips Toward Better Tips" is the name of a pamphlet which has been made available to waitresses by a national organization. Furnishes hints on how to make the customers increase their tips.

SAID SHE: In response to a query by a London newspaper: "What do you think of the American soldiers who are in England?" Mrs. C. M. Watts, a London housewife wrote: "The American soldiers have brought a new era of chivalry to England. The Americans have always spoiled their women folk, made them feel precious, much valued, told them they look like a million dollars in an inexpensive frock and have admired and noticed the hair-dos and hats of their wives and sweethearts. Perhaps now more Englishmen will follow this excellent example."

STRANGE IDEA: Maj. James Stewart, former film star, is from Indiana, Pa. There is also a California, Pa. Who is responsible for the somewhat screwy idea of giving towns the same names as states? It is a wonder some quiz expert hasn't asked: "How could a man be born in both Indiana and Pennsylvania?" Or: "How could a man be in California and Pennsylvania at the same time?"

Hollywood Today

By Louella O. Parsons

NEW YORK, Feb. 13—Certain censor troubles are holding up the sale of Fannie Hurst's widely read "Hallelujah" to the movies. If the hurdles can be jumped it's a cinch for a picture, for there is hardly a major company that hasn't an eye on this novel for a top femme star.

Hottest in the race is Arthur Lyon, who would like to get it for Ida Lupino if he can borrow her from Warners. Republic is also in the running, having Martha Scott in mind. I remember that just before Irving Thalberg died he paid $100,000 for Fannie Hurst's "Great Laughter" and the picture was never made by M-G-M. Fannie brings up issues in many of her stories that are tough problems for the movies.

THE RUMORS, when Diana Barrymore left Hollywood, that she and Universal had parted far from the best of friends can't be true. Diana is on her way back to the Coast to go into the next Olsen and Johnson movie, "High Spirits," which Edmund Hartmann will produce from his own script. I didn't see Diana in New York, but I hear she's shed pounds. She was a discouraged girl when she left Hollywood and talked about not returning in favor of devoting herself to stage work. But as I said before, there are few of them who can resist a good movie job. She'll be the "heavy," not the heroine, but sometimes the meanie roles are better.

★ ★ ★

SALLY EILERS held out on me when I saw her in Chicago—not telling me she was heading back to Hollywood for a movie. Maybe Sal, who is a good friend, didn't know then she would accept the offer from Lou Costello's dad, Sebastian Cristillo, and Eddie Sherman to play the top feminine role in their Monogram picture, "A WAVE, a WAC and a Marine." Sally certainly looks wonderful, with her hair very blonde now, new bangs and her figure tres streamlined. She's very popular in Evanston, where she has been living since her marriage to Lieut. H. J. Barney.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: At last the mystery is solved about who Deanna Durbin meant when she signed off that radio program with "Good night, Dickie Boy." Practically everybody has been guessed from Dick Powell to a "mystery" suitor in Deanna's life. Well, the real "gent" is 3-year-old Richard (Dickie) Heckman, Deanna's nephew. She had sung two songs especially for him and had promised to mention his name at the end of the show, not knowing it was against radio laws. Bet she never does it again. Too much fireworks.

ALL THE TALK about Bruce Cabot is apparently just idle rumor. Both Joe E. Brown and Capt. Michael Frankovich saw Bruce only three days ago and they certainly couldn't have seen him if there had been trouble. Joe E., tired, but happy, is back in New York after visiting 19 countries. This is the first time Capt. Frankovich has been home in more than a year. He accompanied Joe on his first brave mission of entertaining our boys overseas. Mike has to report at once for service and then he hopes to have time to get to the Coast to see his wife, Binnie Barnes. He talked with her by telephone, but she is making a picture and couldn't get to New York. In their travels Joe E. and Mike saw many of our Hollywood men. Capt. Johnny Huston, Lieut.-Comdr. Ben Lyon, Comdr. Gene Markey and Comdr. John Ford

THE THING that interested me most at the Johns Hopkins Hospital, where I spent four days, was the increasing number of women doctors who are getting their chance since the war has called so many men. You'd go a long way to find a more efficient and attractive doctor than alert, bright-eyed Dr. Downey, who works around the clock. My good friend Dr. Hugh Young, and friend of my favorite doctor, made all the arrangements and I'd hate to tell you how many hours I slept (when they weren't trying to find what made me tick). No matter what these M. D.'s say, I am going to die with my boots on, and not in a rocking chair. "You see," Dr. Charles Austrian, famous diagnostician, said, "you must rest, rest, rest!" "Do you rest, rest, rest?" I asked. He said, "No, but I am busy!" And I was rude enough to laugh.

HOLLYWOOD WAS curious to see and hear Hannah Williams and practically everybody who didn't get tickets to the premiere of "Lady in the Dark" showed up at the Clover Club on her opening night. Two hours before she supposed to go on Hannah had a terrible case of jitters. The gal who took Broadway in stride for years was afraid Hollywood wouldn't like her. Even the glamour girls sitting ringside took a double look at the Williams gown. It was form-fitting plus, black lace and jet beads with which she wore long turquoise gloves. The Jules Steins were in the crowd (Jules brought Hannah to Hollywood), also Carole Landis, Betty Grable and Harry James.

IT WON'T BE surprising to people in New York if Martha Faulkner is snapped up by movie scouts. She played opposite Paul Robeson in "Othello" this week, taking the place of Uta Hagen, who was sick

★ ★ ★

SNAPSHOTS OF NEW YORK AND HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Now it's Helmut Dantine squiring Judy Garland around; Jack Benny is a 50-year-old valentine today—it's his birthday; Fifi D'Orsay very worried about her boy friend, Mike Harvey of the "Winged Victory" cast, who is ill in a hospital; showing of Col. Frank Capra's government feature, "The Negro Soldier," hits New York and Hollywood simultaneously, and I hear it is another feather in Frank's Cap-Ra! Aileen Pringle hosted a big birthday party for Judith Anderson in Hollywood with the stage "set" well represented; Buster Keaton and Chuck Reisner are collaborating on a book about their vaudeville days that should be funny; the Forrest Tuckers (he's now a lieutenant in the Army) expect the baby early in the summer; too bad, those too-frequent dates that very nice (but married guy) is having with a glamour girl on the Coast are attracting attention even back in New York. He's not only playing with fire, but with his career; it's still Nora Eddington for Errol Flynn; Mariam Rhea, who has been a very sick girl, now back at her publicity desk at 20th.

My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Sunday — A letter came to me the other day, a part of which I want to give you. It expresses the feeling so many of us have in our hearts better than I could. "It seems to have been necessary for both of my sons to give their lives in this war. I am willing, and able, to take it, if their deaths and those thousands of others who are dying far away from home can be justified by a better and more equalized world when this war is over. If we get anything like the 'status quo' or 'back to normalcy' it can be nothing but a hideous waste."

EACH ONE of us carries a responsibility toward the boys who have died and the boys who have lived and gone through these tragic years, because, as this friend says, unless we have "a better and more equalized world," we will just be preparing for another generation to go through the same thing.

Yesterday morning and after noon I spent several hours at a conference called under the auspices of the Young Women's Christian Ass'n, the National Council of Catholic Women, the National Council of Jewish Women, the National Council of Negro Women, the National Council of Women of the United States and the National Women's Trade Union League of America. It was a national planning conference "on building better race relationships."

I DO NOT KNOW how many of my readers see "The Red Cross Courier." But don't fail to read a short story by Annette Robin, called "We Meet the Missions," in the February issue. It will give you a vivid picture of the life of our fliers in far-away New Guinea, and of what the Red Cross girls are accomplishing there.

For her date with the Navy, Sally Wigglesworth wore a striking dress of black crepe with apricot flowers appliqued at the V-neck and on the skirt. Betty Twitchell and her sister, Mrs. George Cunningham, were others enjoying an early dinner.

Hair Lightener That's Truly Wonderful

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

"CASEY would waltz with a strawberry blonde . . . while the band played on . . ."

Turning back the pages of history . . . back to those gay, glorious gay nineties days . . . when womanhood was in flower . . . there was something truly glamorous about the beautiful blondes of that period . . . so intriguing . . . so captivating . . . so alluring.

And, time has not dimmed the glory of a blonde . . . so soft, so fair, so easy on the eyes.

The smartest women have long accepted hair-tinting as the perfect complement to their own good looks. And, if you are a blonde . . . or a used-to-be blonde . . . or a would-be-blonde . . . your hair should have the golden highlights of lustrous sunlight.

Chances are that you DO care . . . care very much . . . because you're courting compliments . . . as who isn't . . . and, drab, colorless, mousey blonde hair can rob the charm from even the loveliest face. Cosmetic art has advanced to such a degree . . . that tinting is no longer a mysterious experiment of dubious results.

There is an American blonde vegetable oil lightener . . . in a complete range of smart fashionable and true-to-nature colors . . . that will permit you to duplicate safely and with certainty . . . all the stunning variations of blonde hair . . . coppery glow . . . the red gold of the strawberry blonde . . . a rich golden-nugget blonde . . . and a sparkling silver blonde.

THREE-FOLD TREATMENT

It is a wonderful hair lightener that will highlight your tresses ever so lightly . . . if that is how you want it . . . or to any degree of intensity that will suit you personally. The blandest of oils are contained in this hair lightener . . . with conditioning qualities to satsfy the most fastidious girl.

Factually, it is a three-fold treatment . . . which lightens, highlights and conditions your hair simultaneously. Within thirty minutes . . . you can be as glamorous as Veronica Lake . . . or Betty Grable . . . or Marlene Dietrich.

Invite Him To Dine?

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I'm 22 years of age and am going out occasionally with a boy in the service. He's very nice and I'd like to invite him to dinner, but I'm just a little worried that he has a steady girl friend. I wouldn't want to make any trouble between him and his girl friend, so hesitate asking him. How can I find out whether he has a girl friend back home without seeming too curious? P. L. S.

These days everyone invites servicemen to dine or sup. It's part of the Good Neighbor program we are expected to extend to men in uniform. Granted this young man has a girl of his own, there could be no possible objection to your inviting him to a meal. The same rule would hold good if he were married, in which case it's better to invite a couple of servicemen than one.

Meat Extender Dishes Solve Ration Problems

By MARTHA LEE

ALTHOUGH MEAT EXTENDER dishes usually do not have the same food value that an all-meat dish has, they do help to keep meat in the meal. This is important for two reasons that are freqeuntly overlooked:

1—Meat adds satisfaction to meals, for people like meat. By stretching meat it can be served in more meals than it could otherwise.

2—Meat stimulates the flow of digestive juices and thus aids the digestion of other foods; food must be digested before it can be utilized by the body.

CREAMED GROUND BEEF ON TOAST

1 lb. ground beef 3 tbsp. drippings
1 onion, grated 6 tbsp. flour
3 cups milk Salt and pepper
6 slices toast

Brown meat in its own fat in pan on top of range, stirring frequently. Cook slowly so as not to harden the meat. Make sauce in another pan or kettle by melting the fat and cooking the onion in it; blend flour thoroughly with fat and onion. Add the milk to the fat and flour mixture, stirring gradually, and bring to the boiling point. Add seasonings. Pour sauce over browned meat and simmer (not boil) until meat is cooked. Add salt and pepper if necessary.

Chopped green pepper and a teaspoon of Worcestershire sauce may be added to sauce and simmered with the meat, if desired. Serve over toast. Makes 6 servings.

This amount of meat may be extended to make 8 servings by increasing the milk to 4 cups and the flour to 8 tablespoons; 4 tablespoons of meat drippings will be needed.

PORK CHOP SUEY

2 cups boiling water
3 bouillon cubes
3 tbsp. soy sauce 1-3 cup flour
1 lb. diced pork shoulder
1 4-oz. can mushrooms
1 cup sliced onions
3 cups slivered celery
3 tbsp. butter or margarine
4 cups packaged crisp rice cereal

Pour boiling water over bouillon cubes and soy sauce, and stir until smooth. Meanwhile, saute pork shoulder in a skillet until golden brown. Add flour, stir until blended, remove from heat, then stir in bouillon stock. Next add mushrooms, with their juice, the onions and celery. Cover and simmer 30 minutes, stirring occasionally to prevent sticking. Meanwhile melt butter in a saucepan, add rice cereal, and heat thoroughly in the oven or over low heat, stirring frequently. Serve cereal as accompaniment to Chop Suey mixture. Makes 5 servings.

CURRANT LAMB PATTIES

1½ lbs. boned lamb shoulder, ground twice
1 cup soft bread crumbs
2 tbsp. minced onion
1½ tsp. salt ¼ tsp. pepper
2 tsp. bottled thick condiment sauce 2 tbsp. fat
¼ cup currant jelly

Combine all ingredients except butter and jelly, and shape into 6 patties. Brown the patties on both sides in the hot fat in a skillet. Add jelly, cover, and cook over low heat for 15 minutes, turning once. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Silk Shantung Supreme Warm Weather Fabric

By BETTINA BEDWELL

PRETTY as a Valentine is a good way to describe the silk shantung suits in soft, appealing colors which are coming out to wear when warm weather comes.

If you want to know what the supreme style in suits for late spring is, then I'll tell you it is the silk shantung suit. It's a top class item, and the Anthony Blotta suit in Miss Dulin's sketch is a sample.

The color is soft yellow, the shantung heavy and of pure silk. The fine workmanship of Anthony Blotta is evident in the cut, which is fitted and feminine, and in the superb looped bead embroidery in a rosy red that adorns the pockets, which are topped by soft bows of the material.

The Correct Thing

By ELINOR AMES

"GOOD-BY NOW!"—Before leaving a party the well-bred guest seeks out his hostess, and in saying "good-by" tells her he had a nice time. It's very impolite to leave a party without bidding the hostess "good-by."

NEW YORK, Feb. 14—Henny Nadell, the comic who rose to fame for a brief time with a specialty about a fellow who wanted to be 4-F—and promptly got drafted again—has just been given a medical discharge . . . A strange new fad has sprung up among the girls with plenty of fur. Sonja Henie is sporting an ermine-tail hat with a stone marten coat, and Irene Manning combines a lynx coat with a mink hat . . . Funniest news boner of the past week was the story that appeared (in most of the dailies) about a well-known actress being rushed to the hospital for an appendectomy. When the editions came out, said actress was sitting under the dryer at the haidresser's.

BILL VON ZAHLE, the advertising fellow (linked in the romance items with Ginny Simms, Judy Garland and Bonita Granville), is in Lenox Hill Hospital with pneumonia . . . John Ringling North's new friend is named Jean Brand Rafield . . . A prominent psychiatrist is set to take the witness stand as one of the big guns of the Doris Duke-Jimmy Cromwell New Jersey divorce suit . . . Harry James' radio sponsor has a replacement already hired and drawing salary until such time as the bandleader is inducted . . . Lieut. Bob Taplinger is now on active duty in the South Pacific . . . The Johnny Weissmullers are talking reconciliation. He's been on good behavior in recent months . . . Victor McLaglen is alarmingly ill . . . Victor ("Two Mrs. Carrolls") Jory and swing songstress Jerry Kruger are a new duet . . . Madeline Webb's appeal is being financed by a wealthy Broadwayite with whom she was friendly before she got mixed up in a murder . . . Leon Henderson, who "discovered" Chucho Martinez at the Urca Club in Rio and urged him to come to New York, is his most vociferous fan at the Havana-Madrid ringside.

IT'S ALL SET for John L. Lewis to join the AFL in the spring . . . Betty Deane, of "Allah Be Praised," was gifted with $25,000 in bonds by an admirer, a wealthy stable-owner . . . Syndicate experts report that the trend toward "continuity" comic strips has passed its peak. Doesn't seem possible . . . The Pvt. Julian ("Winged Victory") Stockdales are shopping for a G. I. bassinet . . . RKO is worried that Frank Sinatra's bobby-sox fans will kill him for pictures. Exhibitors report that adult audiences are driven away by the antics of the kid fanatics.

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 14—Moss Hart tells of an incident in his early playwriting days. In fact, it concerns one of the first plays he ever wrote, an opus called "The Hold Up." The leading character in this play was a gangster, a good-natured gangster.

Hart peddled the play and would let anyone he could get to read it, read it. Some of the readers he tried to sell the play to, and from the other readers he merely wanted advice.

Neil Hamilton

One of the many who read the play was Charles La Torre, a character actor along Broadway and a man who dabbled in playwriting himself. La Torre suggested to Moss Hart that his basic writing weakness was an apparent unwillingness to put enough characters into his play. "Make the gangster a couple of gangsters instead of one," La Torre suggested, "and add a few more characters. You've got practically a dramatic soliloquy."

La Torre, like most Broadway character actors, is now in Hollywood doing his stuff for the cameras. The other day Moss and La Torre met and Moss said, "You know, Charlie, I took your advice about putting in a lot of characters in my plays, and it worked. As a matter of fact, I've got the entire Air Force in 'Winged Victory.'"

NEIL HAMILTON is back in town playing in "Since You Went Away." In fact, as Hamilton puts it, he's the "You" in "Since You Went Away." A few weeks ago, however, Hamilton was in Alaska with Ingrid Bergman, entertaining the soldiers.

The day they reached Nome he and Miss Bergman took lunch with Gen. Jones. During the luncheon, Hamilton kept hearing his first name used. But when he looked around to see who was talking to him, he realized that it must be another Neil. Eventually he located the possessor of the name—a particularly tall young captain.

Curious, because he has found his name not too common, Neil Hamilton approached this captain and said, "Does your name happen to be Neil?"

The captain, more interested in Ingrid Bergman, merely replied, "Yes."

"How is it spelled?" asked Neil Hamilton.

"With an 'I'," said the captain.

"Does your father come from the State of Washington?"

"Yes," said the captain.

"Was he in the lumber business?"

"Yes," said the captain. "How did you know that?" By now he was very interested.

"Well," said Neil, "I remember among my early fans was a couple that lived in Washington and they wrote me every week. I was told about the coming baby and they said if it were a boy he would be named Neil. Then they wrote that the boy had been given my name. After a while the letters stopped coming, as fan mail does, but I always remembered that somewhere in Washington I had a namesake."

And there in Nome, Alaska, Neil Hamilton, the movie actor entertaining the troops, shook hands with Capt. Neil Hamilton, who had been named after him.

Preserving U. S. Way

By George E. Sokolsky

FASCISM IS, by definition, control of the means of production and distribution and the flow of capital by government which is a dictatorship of one party dominated by a single individual. In any Fascistic government, the private life of every individual in the country is controlled from conception to burial by the government upon which he is completely dependent.

This definition of Fascism applies to most, even democratic, countries in time of war in varying degrees. In the United States, for instance, while the means of production are controlled by government, the individual is not dependent upon the state. And one party is not in possession of government. In fact, the Congress has become so resistant to one party control that it tends to oppose the executive in all matters.

Bernard Baruch

CONGRESS has not forgotten the era of "the rubber-stamp Congress" when "must" legislation was ordered by Tommy Corcoran and when senators were threatened with the purge if they so much as queried the wisdom of the most egregious error. "Must" legislation is today taboo. The relations between the executive and legislative branches of government have reverted to the strictly constitutional.

BUT EVEN in the matter of the control of the means of production and distribution and the flow of capital, the resistance to the perpetuation of Fascistic processes—essential perhaps in war — is strengthening. Three bodies are in actual being for the principal objective of restoring the American economic system as soon as possible: the George Committee in the Senate; the Post-War Planning Committee in the House, and the agency of Bernard M. Baruch. The George Committee has issued a report; the House Committee is in the process of organization; a proposal is momentarily expected from Mr. Baruch and his associate, John Hancock.

THE MAJOR economic problem arising out of this war will be the reduced private reserves for the restoration of the private operation of industry. A country is only as strong as its reserves, for once they are spent, it can exist only by the grace of other countries. It becomes, to varying degrees, a dependent country. It might even sink to a colonial condition. Wars and natural disturbances are the usual instrumentalities for reducing the reserves of a nation and for destroying their independence and the liberties of their people. It is during war, therefore, that a wise people guards its economic future. That is the problem that these Congressional committees and Mr. Baruch face.

HENRY WALLACE also faces it but his solution is glibly simple: He would not imitate Soviet Russia altogether. He would omit something from the Russian pattern—what he does not say. Perhaps he would omit the vodka. But Henry Wallace starts his discussion of this serious problem by attacking the Fascism of Wall Street when he should know that Wall Street has lost any control of the flow of capital to the agencies of government which operate on ideas introduced into our way of life by Henry Wallace and his associates in the days when they were changing the world. And look what they changed it to! It there has been one constant and unchanging ideological Fascist in American life, that man is Henry Wallace. Apply to everything he has done and advocated during the past 12 years the definition in paragraph one of this article and check for yourself.

IN CONTRAST, take this credo of Americanism spoken by Bernard Baruch on Washington's birthday, 1933—and it still holds:

"Only such a selected race (the (American people) could have conceived a charter of federal government which left to each community full discretion and responsibility for its own governance and welfare and withheld from the central government the power to do anything whatever for a state which the state could possibly do for itself. It undertook certain attributes of general sovereignty but it specified not one obligation of government to do anything for any citizen except to refrain from interfering with his peaceful pursuits. Finally, to make assurance double sure, it tacked on 10 special promises—the Bill of Rights—intended to insure against political intrusion in social, intellectual and economic areas."

Ice Follies to Shatter Attendance Records

By JACK CONWAY

THE ICE FOLLIES of 1944 will shatter all of its previous attendance records during its Boston shows which opens at the Garden tomorrow night . . . Tommy Waters tells me interest in this great show never was as great as it is this year.

The Ice Follies and the Boston Garden management has agreed to donate the entire receipts of Saturday's matinee to the Boston American's Disabled Veterans Fund . . . The sale of tickets for this performance has been particularly active . . . There are still tickets available for Saturday's matinee . . . I suggest that you make your reservations today for the show for the Disabled Veterans.

Betty Atkinson

The Ice Follies presents the best ice show in the world . . . This is due to the fact it has been organized for many years . . . It is an all-star cast, and every person in the show gives 100 per cent effort for the success of the entire show . . . The top stars like Betty Atkinson are as much interested in those persons with minor roles as they are in their own parts.

Gil Dodds' Great Mile

AS GIL DODDS ran the Hunter Mile in 4:09.5 to beat Bill Hulse at the B.A.A. games at the Garden, he gave one of the greatest exhibitions of running ever witnessed in this city. It was apparent once Dodds went into the lead that he intended to set a dizzy pace. Hulse ran a good race, but Dodds had too much speed and lasting power for him. During the last four laps, it was apparent that unless Dodds blew up, he was going to win easily.

It was a great victory for Jack Ryder as well as for Dodds. It was Ryder who prepared Dodds for his test with Hulse and who coached him on how to win.

Despite the storm, the B.A.A. games drew their usual big crowd. The competition was exceptionally good in view of the large number of top athletes who were not available as a result of being in service. The Navy colleges helped save the situation by sending some first class athletes to the Garden.

Terranova vs. Bolvin

PHIL TERRANOVA, world's featherweight champion, will clash with Larry Bolvin of Providence, former All-America title holder, at the Garden on March 10 . . . The winner will later mingle with Sal Bartolo in this city . . . Terranova has shown an abundance of ability in his ring contests, and he is likely to get the Bartolo match.

These bouts will be staged by Rip Valenti's Goodwin A. C. This club also has signed Ralph Zanelli to mingle with Hammering Henry Armstrong at the Garden on March 24 . . . It is understood that Armstrong will receive a guarantee of $7500 and 30 per cent of the gate receipts.

Random Shots at Target

LEO FITZGERALD, who has been associated with the mutuel departments at the three major New England tracks, and Mrs. Fitzgerald have been vacationing in Florida . . . Leo writes that among the New England people who are in Miami are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Connors, Mrs. James Connors, widow of the former chairman of the board at Narragansett Park, Judge Day, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas O'Connor, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Sullivan and Mr. and Mrs. John E. Murray.

Which reminds me that I'm Florida bound tomorrow with the hope that I may come up with a few winners at Hialeah Park and get my usual 100 at golf.

Joost Quits

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Eddie Joost, shortstop for the Boston Braves, and Joe Orengo, Detroit Tiger infielder, will not play big league baseball in 1944, the Chronicle said.

Both are working in a defense plant and have been classified 2-A by their draft boards. Both have children.

Joost was sold by Cincinnati to Boston last season and Orengo went from the New York Giants to Detroit in the same year.

Cards Sacramento Farm Sold to Tacoma

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 14 (AP)—President Phil Bartelme of the Sacramento baseball club said the Sacramento Pacific Coast League franchise had been sold to Tacoma, Wash., subject to approval by league directors.

Bartelme said Sam Breadon, president of the St. Louis Cardinals, operators of the Sacramento franchise since 1936, confirmed the sale this afternoon.

Nelson Gains On Revolta

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 14 (AP)—Byron Nelson whipped through rain and mud to a par-breaking 68 to move within one stroke of front-runner Johnny Revolta in the battle for the 72-hole, $5000 Texas open championship.

Revolta skidded from his great four-under 64 of yesterday to a one-over 72 today and his total showed 205 for 54 holes when the field of 77 finished wading the muddy fairways.

Nelson, who tied the competitive course record with his sensational 63 yesterday, was still hot as a firecracker with his putter to pull to 206 and to gain four strokes over Revolta.

Clayburne, Linehan Top Arena Card

Four matches, topped off by the return meeting between clever Jack Clayburne, Colored champion, and George Linehan, Wayland police officer, will make up the weekly wrestling program Wednesday night at the Arena.

The semi-final will find Sandor Szabo, former West Coast champion, tackling Jack Reeder, Toronto, while the weekly special will pit Leo Numa against Ed "Stranger" White, former University of Alabama football star. The opener finds Rebel Bob Russell matched with Frank Judson

B's Bow, 4-1, Keep 4th Rung

By BILL GRIMES

Still in sole possession of fourth place, Boston's Bruins packed today for a long stay away from home after bowing to the Detroit Red Wings at the Garden, 4 to 1. The B's hung onto fourth rung in the NHL race because the Canadiens came from behind to tie the Blackhawks in Chicago, 2-2. This kept the Hawks in the fifth berth with 35 points to the Rossmen's 36.

The Bruins play on the 19th at Toronto, and the following day at Detroit, a hard sting, but then rest until the 26th when they meet the flying Canadiens in Montreal. The Bruins will be home again for a Tuesday night date with the Maple Leafs in the Garden on the 29th after allowing the brilliant Ice Follies to hold the local stage.

The Bruins, with Billy Cowley and Busher Jackson back after long layoffs due to injuries, have a chance to get going despite their loss here last night before some 13,000 customers. Cowley and Jackson both figured to need a game or two before hitting their top stride. If a wrenched knee sustained by Cowley when he was bumped by Flash Hollett does not prove bothersome the great playmaker of the B's should be ready to spark the club in the stretch run.

After an absence of 11 games, Cowley was back in action, as was Jackson, last night. Cowley set up some clever plays, but his mates were unable to cash in. He didn't suffer any ill effects to his injured shoulder, but in the third period Hollett stepped into him and "Cowboy" retired to receive first aid. The collision with Hollett wrenched Cowley's knee, but he insisted upon returning to the game.

Despite the fact that they were beaten by three goals, the Bruins were very much in the game until late in the final period.

SCREENED SHOT

The Red Wings beat Bert Gardiner for two goals in the opening chapter but they were held in check until the 14th minute of the final period, when Bill Quakenbush scored on a shot that was screened all the way.

Conni. Dion turned in another fine game in the nets for the Red Wings. He held the Bossmen scoreless until Norm Calladine beat him with a shot which slid along the ice and under his chin guard at 13:41 of the final stanza.

One again, Mgr. Jack Adams "iced" a well balanced smart, hustling club. The Wings forechecked and back-checked so cleverly that the Bruins had great difficulty organizing an offense.

The crowd witnessed a rugged contest, which, although it featured some heavy bodying, didn't produce a penalty.

GARDINER STARS

During the first 30 seconds of play, Gardiner was called upon to make three thrilling saves of close-up shots. The Red Wings carried the play to the Bruins and lost no time peppering Gardiner with three drives which Bert managed to keep out of the cage by means of some exceptionally fine goal tending.

Hollett, who was an "elbow" checker while he was with the Bruins, began to step into his old teammates at half time, dropping Jack Crawford and then Russ Kopak in rapid succession.

Early in the final period, Hollett conked Crawford on the head with the puck and the Boston defense man retired to the bench to recover from the effects of the blow. Cowley hurt his leg at 6:48 and retired.

Whirlette Ends Hard Luck Career

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 14 (AP)—Whirlette, kid sister of the illustrious Whirlaway, is slated to follow her big brother back to the farm after a hard-luck career as a racer.

Like the money-winning champ of all time, the little filly is intended for stud duty.

A visit to the Warren Wright Calumet Farm stable at Hialeah Park yesterday revealed the daughter of Blenheim 2nd-Dustwhirl in a hungry mood, stretching her neck at full length. Foreman Jake Hizar was ready to order feeding time and said Whirlette was reaching for sugar. She seems to have settled down somewhat from her temperamental earlier days, for, like Whirlaway and other Blenheims, this little girl was pretty high strung.

Whirlette's racing debut was long deferred. She was ready for her premiere at Hialeah last winter, then the meeting was cancelled. Several times later on she overcame various ailments such as distemper and coughing. Something always deferred her initial start.

Finally, this winter, she raced at Hialeah. In her baptism under fire, the Calumet Lassie made up a world of ground, stealing through on the inside to win instead of racing wide like her brother used to do, but it was a rather slow race. Entered again and still seeming confused and green, she fared poorly.

Never a robust filly but royally bred, Whirlette's owners have decided to terminate her racing career, but expect that she will prove her mettle at stud.

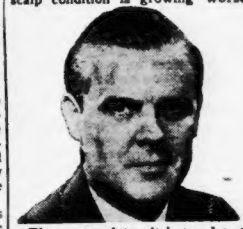
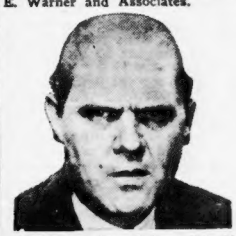
JOHN WARNER SAYS:
"AVOID AGING 14 YEARS IN 1"29

This young man has a fine head of hair and doesn't feel that he will ever be bald. Yet, his scalp is laden with dandruff, itches constantly and he loses a great deal of hair each day. Right now, a short period of the pleasant, low-cost, scientific treatment used by John E. Warner and Associates would rid his scalp of dandruff, check the hair-fall and normalize his scalp. He could keep this fine head of hair

A year later the hair has receded at the temples and our young man is worrying about it. He douses his head with cure-all lotions and his scalp condition is growing worse.



Three years later, it is too late to have a good head of hair but not too late to save and improve the appearance of the hair that remains through prompt treatment by John E. Warner and Associates.



Four years later, it is too late, his appearance is permanently marred, a serious handicap. Statistics show that as much as 85% of all baldness can be prevented if properly treated in time; but once you are bald you can never hope to regrow hair.

Fees for treatment are very moderate and are payable as the treatments are taken—not in advance. There is a separate department for women. No charge for consultation or examination.

Hours: Mon., Wed., Fri., 11:00 a. m. to 9:00 p. m. Tues., Thurs., Sat., 9:00 a. m. to 6 p. m.

Rice's Two-Mile Record At Dodds' Mercy--Ryder

By HUCK FINNEGAN

GIL DODDS has run the fastest mile in Boston's indoor track history and has it in him to run the fastest mile in United States' history. He gave convincing proof of this in the Hunter Mile as he bounded back from a 63.9 first quarter to beat Bill Hulse by 21 yards in 4:09.5. His "middle half," that is, his second and third quarters, was run in the incredible time of 2:00.3. Coaches as old as Jack Ryder and Emil Von Elling couldn't recall when anything like that happened before.

Jack Ryder

You'd think then that the Gordon College student would be concentrating on the Baxter Mile in next Saturday's New York A. C. games. Not Dodds, however. In fact as he wended his way to Boston College today to resume training under Ryder he expressed himself in this fashion:

"Gee, I wish the promoters would let me run the two-mile. That's my favorite distance. I can gallop around 22 laps in 8:53 and I'm not half so tired as I am finishing a 4:10 mile. That is just one continuous sprint. One mistake and you can't make it up, that is, against a high class field. In the two miles you have more chance to think and if you misjudge your pace on one lap you can make it up on another."

Tiresome Grind

Von Elling, New York U. sage, had been talking distances at the BAA games. "I don't blame Dodds or any other runner for wanting to shift distances," he said. "It becomes pretty tiresome grinding out the same yardage, adhering to the same time schedule week after week. Paavo Nurmi wouldn't do it. He ran a different distance every night in the week when he toured the US in '25, and Gunder Hagg did the same thing last summer."

Even Jack Ryder, who has trained Dodds to the point where one of these nights he may get down as low as 4:05 for a mile, would like to see Gil perform at his favorite two-mile route. Greg Rice holds the indoor record for the distance—8:51.

Said Ryder: "The way Gil's running now I'd say he would get under 8:50. Yes, he'd break Rice's record. But you can see the promoters' angle. Hunter won the Billings two-mile in 9:23. You can imagine how far behind he'd be with Dodds stepping on it from the gun. Just the same, I'd like to see Gil try it once this winter—either at the nationals or at a special invitation race at the intercollegiates early in March."

Outstanding at Meet

B. A. A. MEET CLEANUPS: Dartmouth's Bill Vessie (6:07) will be leaving for Parris Island next week and thus won't be around for the intercollegiates . . . Dezzy Wadsworth, who picked Hulse to beat Dodds in the Hunter Mile, voted for Johnny Fulton as the meet's outstanding performer . . . H. C.'s relay beat B. C. at Millrose but Jack Ryder turned the tables at B. A. A. by running Herb McKenley second. The West Indian rattled off a 50 flat leg and piled up such a commanding lead (40 yards) H. C. couldn't make it up . . . Tech did a fine job in winning two relays but the best effort of the night was contributed by Tufts. The Jumbos lost George Kennedy just before Millrose but beat Tech, H. C. and B. C. Before the B. A. A. meet, lead-off man Ray Southwick was set down by Navy authorities and Kelleher substituted. He indulged in a spill with his Williams rival, finished even but lost 12 yards by poor baton passing. He finished in 59.8. Yet so fast did Nos. 3 (Eddie Palmieri, 50.8) and 4 (Harry Drake 50.1) travel that Tufts did 3:33.4 to win. Best time of the night was turned in by Rochester, 3:29.7. Think what might have been.

Tufts seemed a cinch to win the IC4-A meet in March but is losing Ted Sparrow, Drake, John Lennon, Dick Smith and sundry others next week. Sparrow looked like a sure winner in high jump as well as hurdles. If Ted Vogel comes off the ineligible list by the 26th, he's liable to set a two-mile record at the IC4-A's. The national junior 10,000-meter champion looks capable of a 9:15 effort. Too bad he wasn't able to face Ollie Hunter here Saturday . . . Claude Young was timed in 50.9 on his relay leg after being left on his mark in the dash final. . . . Conwell never will beat Young again" was the consensus of the experts.

Bob Coleman Set for Trades

After a six-hour conference with President Bob Quinn yesterday Mgr. Bob Coleman and his coach, Tom Sheehan, were early arrivals at Braves Field this morning. For two days Quinn, Coleman and Sheehan have been ironing out problems, which had been tabled since the ownership of the club was taken over by Louis Perini, C. Joseph Maney and Guido Rugo.

Coleman and Sheehan are highly elated over the new set-up.

Bob Coleman's appointment to succeed Casey Stengel was very well received throughout the baseball world. And, Bob's selection of Tom Sheehan, as his right eye, was a smart move, for Long Tom is a very crafty baseball man.

Due to the fact that Coleman and Sheehan plan to return to their homes in Evansville, Ind., and Chicago, respectively, tomorrow afternoon, it is doubtful if the other coach will be decided on before they depart.

DEVELOPED STARS

Although it required 34 years for Bob Coleman to reach his goal—manager of a major league clue—there's no one better qualified for the berth, he took over officially Saturday. During the quarter of a century that he managed minor league teams, Coleman developed some outstanding stars for the St. Louis Browns, the Detroit Tigers and the Braves. Time and again, he has received offers to return to the Browns and the Tigers but he preferred to work for Bob Quinn.

Bob Coleman is the best handler of young ball players in baseball. He has prevented many youngsters from straying off the straight and narrow path with some fatherly advice. Through his policy to take his boys into his confidence and by showing a keen interest in them off the field, Bob Coleman has always been highly regarded by his players.

Before the opening of the coming season, the Braves hope to close a few deals. Like most of the other National League clubs, the Braves need infielders. Right now, they have a couple of infielders on the roster, who do not fit into the picture and who will be disposed of if Bob Quinn and Bob Coleman are able to make a trade which will strengthen the club.

READY TO TRADE

The Braves have three catchers, Stewart Hofferth, Clyde Kluttz and Phil Masi. Most of the N. L. clubs are looking for first string receivers. They can all make good use of a relief catcher, with the recognized ability of Hofferth, Kluttz or Masi. Any of them can get their catching department straightened out, if they offer the Braves infielders. The Braves might agree to put a pitcher or two and even a outfielder into a deal.

Bob Coleman expects to return here the first week in March and get ready to meet the 1944 Braves at Choate School about the middle of next month. BILL GRIMES.

GBI All-Stars Play Montreal in Arena

By MIKE GILLOOLY

Release of the All-Star squad of the GBI Hockey League serves as a reminder that the fans will have an opportunity to see two of the greatest schoolboy players in opposing action on Washington's Birthday when the Catholic High six of Montreal invades the Arena for its annual tilt.

The Canadian clubs will be paced by Howie Morenz, Jr., while the GBI boys will have a scoring ace of their own in Jackie Garrity, past center of the Medford team and top scorer in the circuit.

While Morenz, son of the most famous of hockey players, will be a definite starter in this classic, the first line chances of Garrity will bring about a ticklish situation for Coach Johnnie Prior who will handle the GBI All-Stars through virtue of his successful championship defense. Coach Prior will have to pass up the high scoring line in the league to bring about a duel between Garrity and Morenz.

Garrity waltzed to individual scoring honors during the season and his efforts were crowned with a spree of three goals and three assists in the most important game of the season. He deserves the honor of facing off against Morenz, even if Coach Prior will feel somewhat awkward about nominating his own Medford star and captain to this berth.

The Montreal team has been hard hit by the enlistments of its players. Of the 15 boys who made the trip last season, only five will be coming back. Jack Gelineau, goalie and Frank Tyler, defense, are in the air force; Gerry Coleman, sub-goalie, George Crevier, defense, and Joe Petit, forward, are in the navy. One has been rejected while three have moved on to college.

Basketball will get off to a flying start in the Boston schoolboy ranks tomorrow afternoon with four games in as many high school gyms . . . Jamaica Plain will travel to Brighton; Roslindale will move to Charlestown; East Boston will invade Hyde Park and Brandeis Vocational will journey to South Boston . . . The general consensus of the coaches indicates that play will be of mediocre calibre—this season — but the future promises some sparkling performances in the comeback of the court game.
